Department of Botany

Report on Seminar :

"Role of Biofertilizers in Modern Agriculture"

The Department of Botany organized a seminar on the topic "Role of Biofertilizers in Modern Agriculture" on 08-04-2025 at 10.30am. The lecture aimed to highlight the importance of biofertilizers as a sustainable and eco-friendly alternative to chemical fertilizers.

The resource person for the session was Kumar S, Manager Multiplex Pvt.Ltd., a renowned expert in agricultural sciences and soil microbiology. The lecture covered key aspects such as types of biofertilizers, their role in enhancing soil fertility, improving crop yield and promoting sustainable farming practices. Emphasis was laid on the use of Rhizobium, Azospirillum, Azotobacter and phosphate-solubilizing bacteria in modern agriculture.

Students and faculty members actively participated in the session, followed by an engaging Question and answer segment that reflected the growing interest in organic and sustainable farming techniques.

The session concluded with a vote of thanks, expressing gratitude to the guest speaker for sharing valuable insights and to the department for organizing the informative event.
